ALL BACON SERVED SEMI-CRISPY.

A classic inkubator updated after more than 10 years as a tragic fate has befallen Tic Tacs too, even if I never bought lime Tic Tacs.

Today I will delve into an issue that is undermining the fabric of our society; an ugly truth to which Americans are turning a blind eye amidst this cultural turmoil we're in. It's not easy. It's not fun. But it has to be uncovered.

FLAVOR GENOCIDE!

Yes, there is a old and storied flavor that is slowly being wiped from the earth, and we're letting it happen. Chances are, you see it everyday and don't even realize it is taking place. America is killing lime. You heard me: Flavor genocide! Lime has been given the deep six, written off, let loose from the mortal coil.

I'm a lime lover. Not lemon-lime, mind you. That's good too, but it is not the same thing. Do not confuse the two. Sprite, Sierra-Mist, you are spared this awful fate. This is a targeted attack on one helpless little green fruit (or artificial fruit flavoring). At first I thought it was an unfortunate oversight or a confined outbreak. But, no, this is an epidemic. The first time it broke my heart: there was no lime flavor available at the Hawaiian shave ice stand. Must be an oversight; I'm sure there's some under the counter somewhere. No. No, there is not. Sorry, pal, looks like black cherry or blue raspberry for you.

Then they murdered my Sprees. You know, the little tart hard candies with the shiny colored fruit-flavored coating. Yeah, the green ones. Not lime anymore. Like so many good, hardworking limes, it has been replaced with the scourge of the artificial fruit flavored phylum, green apple. Oh, damn you, green apple, I shake my fist at the sky and yell your name like you were Ricardo Montalban in Star Trek II.

Next up, SweetTarts. Bye bye, lime. Hello... what's this? Watermelon? Watermelon isn't green. That's not just a travesty, that's just plain wrong. You don't eat the rind of a watermelon. You eat the fleshy red innards. They are decidedly not pink. Replace strawberry or something. You can't be green. I'd say at least you could have been kiwi. But that poor fruit always gets screwed over by being mixed with strawberry every time, too. So I know he's not going to be taking over the green candy world any time soon.

I thought the last straw might be Life Savers. LIFE SAVERS! The same little wonderful candies for the last 987 years. And they have crucified lime in favor of green apple. You have got to be freakin' kidding me. Get rid of those awful white ones. What flavor is that supposed to be, anyway? Are you kidding? Is that piña colada? Get your own Life Savers, South America. This is North America. We have five flavors: Lemon, lime, cherry, grape and orange. And that's all we need. But then I heard they went and killed lime in Tic Tacs now too.

My toilet bowl cleaner still has a crisp lime scent. Really? You had to so degrade the poor flavor that the only place it still has value is in my toilet?

Now, you are probably thinking, "What about Key lime pie?" Key lime pie is the secret weapon of the infidel. You see, what they are doing is diverting all lime attention to the pie. Anytime anyone like me says something, the marketing machine of the alt-lime swings into action with its counter-spin campaign, touting the splendors of Key lime pie. Then when all other forms of lime have been safely abolished from society, these heathens who have cornered the market on Key lime pie like Mortimer and Randolph Duke tried to do with the frozen concentrated orange juice market in the fabulous and apparently educational Eddie Murphy movie Trading Places, they will pull the plug on the pie, and dance on the grave of my friend, the lime.

Tostitos has a chip with hint of lime but that doesn't count because they're disgusting. Another lie from the alt-limers.

My only hope is that good, wholesome people will continue the fight out the fringes of society. Maybe Jones Soda will keep making lime soda, even if it is at twice the price of regular soda. Maybe the beer industry putting lime into their brews is not just a flavor additive, but a volley against the agents of limicide in the battle against annihilation. If so, I salute you Bud Light Lime and Lime-A-Rita. I think.

But it's not so much about adding lime into new things, but rather, leaving lime in things we've grown up trusting to taste like lime in the first place.

Maybe I need to start stockpiling for the future. I'll be like Mad Max crossing the vast desert on my quest for the last lime in the land. I'll find a commune of lime lovers entrenched in a fort where there is a lime tree in the courtyard and the whole place is surrounded by mohawk-sporting heathens in their green apple-powered desert vehicles. And in the end, I will offer to drive the tanker full of lime juice out of the compound as we plan our escape to the Promised Land by the sea. And when the tanker crashes and I'm left for dead while the rest of the commune slipped out the back way after the heathens followed my decoy, they will soon discover that it is not, in fact, full of lime juice, but rather oil-based artificial nacho cheese sauce. ■

BELLAMY BROTHERS

THE LOVE STILL FLOWS TOUR

THURSDAY, APRIL 18

7 PM @ FIVE FLAGS THEATER (405 MAIN ST)

Howard and David continue to prove that the trail they've ridden to fame has been as unique as their music itself—music that is now celebrating 40 years of success on their "The Love Still Flows Tour."

The road that started on the pop music charts in the '70s took a winding turn into country music in the '80s paving the way for duos to come, such as Brooks & Dunn, Montgomery Gentry, Big & Rich, and previously—The Judds. With mega '70s and '80s hits like "Let Your Love Flow," "If I said You Had a Beautiful Body," and "Redneck Girl," they became an instant smash in both the U.S. and Europe and built a huge international fan base for the hip young brothers that endures to this day.

Tickets are $34-$54 and can be purchased at Ticketmaster.com and Five Flags Center box office. For more information, call 563-589-4254 or visit FiveFlagsCenter.com.

MOVIE NEWS

COMING TO THEATERS

SHAZAM (PG-13)

FRIDAY, APRIL 5

By shouting out one word—SHAZAM!—Billy Batson, a streetwise 14-year-old foster kid can turn into the adult superhero, courtesy of an ancient wizard. Still a kid at heart, Shazam revels in this adult version of himself by doing what any teen would do with superpowers: have fun with them!

PET SEMATARY (R)

FRIDAY, APRIL 5

Based on the seminal horror novel by Stephen King, Pet Sematary follows Dr. Louis Creed, who, after relocating with his wife Rachel and their two young children from Boston to rural Maine, discovers a mysterious burial ground. When tragedy strikes, Louis turns to his unusual neighbor, setting off a perilous chain reaction that unleashes an unfathomable evil with horrific consequences.

THE BEST OF ENEMIES (PG-13)

FRIDAY, APRIL 5

Based on a true story, the film centers on the unlikely relationship between an outspoken civil rights activist and a local Ku Klux Klan leader who reluctantly co-chaired a community summit, battling over the desegregation of schools in Durham, North Carolina during the racially-charged summer of 1971.

HELLBOY (R)

FRIDAY, APRIL 12

Hellboy is back, and he's on fire. From the pages of Mike Mignola's seminal work, this action packed story sees the legendary half-demon superhero called to the English countryside to battle a trio of rampaging giants. This a new darker, more violet version of the comic character according to early press.

MASTER Z: THE IP MAN LEGACY (NR)

FRIDAY, APRIL 12

Legendary action director Yuen Woo-Ping draws on a stellar cast (Michelle Yeoh, Dave Bautista, Tony Jaa, and Max Zhang) to create a hard-hitting martial arts blast worthy of its place in the celebrated Ip Man universe.

MOVIE BUZZ

Based on original Marvel Comics characters, Dark Phoenix represents the 12th cinematic installment of the X-Men franchise. Game of Thrones actress Sophie Turner stars as the titular character, a mutant named Jean Grey with conflicting personalities. Producer Hutch Parker suggests the film will be a Hitchcock-esque psychological thriller. Dark Phoenix was preceded by Logan and Deadpool 2 in the franchise, and will be a direct sequel to X-Men: Apocalypse. James McAvoy, Michael Fassbender, and Jennifer Lawrence are also in the cast reprising their superhero roles.

Actresses Melissa McCarthy and Octavia Spencer will reportedly star in Netflix's Thunder Force. The film is described as a superhero movie, with McCarthy real life husband, Ben Falcone, scheduled to direct. With the Netflix partnership with Marvel ended, this appears to be their first go-it-alone foray in the superhero genre.

Cillian Murphy is in talks to join A Quiet Place 2 after the first film in the series from actor-turned-director John Krasinski was a surprise smash hit, bringing in over $300 million on an astonishing $17 million budget. Krasinski and co-star Emily Blunt are also returning even though I'm pretty sure we saw John die a terrible death in the first one. Oops, spoiler. Sorry.

Two-time Oscar winner Tom Hanks will fill the role of Elvis Presley's manager, Colonel Tom Parker, in Baz Luhrmann and Warner Bros' as yet untitled biopic about the iconic rock and roll star. This project has been brewing since as early as 2014 and will surprisingly be the first definitive biopic about Presley.

Producers are reportedly looking for a Scottish actor to replace Daniel Craig as 007 after Bond 25. Despite talk that Craig would bow out after his fourth go-around as Bond in 2015's Spectre, the actor has signed on for one more hitch in the as-yet-untitled 25th Bond film, which is going under the working title Shatterhand.

LIVE AT HERITAGE B.I.T.E. SIZE SERIES

AN AFTERNOON (OR EVENING) WITH MARK TWAIN

FRIDAY, APRIL 5

3:30 AND 7:30 PM @ UNIVERSITY OF DUBUQUE HERITAGE CENTER BABKA THEATRE (2255 BENNETT ST)

University of Dubuque Heritage Center closes its B.I.T.E. Size Series on Friday, April 5, at 3:30 and 7:30 p.m. in Babka Theatre. An Afternoon (or Evening) with Mark Twain will be performed by New York actor Dr.

Michael Mauldin. A Q&A follows each performance.

Mauldin's hilarious and insightful portrayal of Mark Twain recreates an actual lecture that he would have delivered during his highly-acclaimed world tour culminating in 1905. In his customary white suit and cigar, Twain takes us through a fascinating panoply of uproarious comedy, biting social satire, and often dark commentary of the human condition. It's all seen through the eyes of a man who had been at the top of the literary and social spectrum for most of his life. Twain had reached the age and level of esteem where he felt free to say what was on his mind with almost no fear of censure.

Tickets are $19 for adults, $15 for UD alumni and military, and $9 for children and students. All tickets increase by $5 for purchases on the day of the performance. Tickets can be purchased at the Heritage Center Farber Box Office; by phone at 563-585-SHOW; or online at DBQ.edu/heritagecenter. ■

VINTAGE TORQUE FEST

DUBUQUE BIGGEST LIVE MUSIC FESTIVAL... DISGUISED AS A CAR SHOW

FRIDAY, MAY 3 @ NOON-MIDNIGHT
SATURDAY, MAY 4 @ 8 AM-WHO KNOWS WHEN?
DUBUQUE COUNTY FAIRGROUNDS (14569 OLD HIGHWAY RD)

Vintage Torque Fest is not the typical car show. This is a festival that brings together people from around the country that have a passion for keeping the traditions of the past alive. This means keeping the music, cars, clothes, and art alive. This is what Vintage Torque Fest is about. It is a festival that brings hot rods from around the world, artists from around the world, vendors from east and west coasts, and bands that have toured the world several times over into one location. And in the end, Vintage Torque Fest is a fundraiser designed to help families that have children with congenital heart defects, so you know it's a family friendly environment.

This show isn't about just looking at cool rides, it's about DRIVING them! Hot rods are allowed to make exhibition laps on the dirt track. While hundreds of amazing cars and motorcycles will be on display across the Dubuque County Fairgrounds site, feature cars and motorcycles will be inside the buildings. Vendors will be in the different buildings selling hot rod merchandise to the masses. You simply must witness demolition drags on the race track. Yeah, it's exactly what you think it is, drag racing and a demolition derby all smoked together... literally!

If you are expecting to come to Torque Fest and see people lined up behind their cars in fold up chairs... well... this is not the show for you. There are stages of music, art show, swap meet, vendors, indoor theater, and a dirt track with different exhibitions to get everyone on their feet and moving around. You will find that you had a much richer experience than a stale old car show.

With all of the amazing rides, art, and kustom culture at the event, you might lost sight of the fact that there is no other event in Dubuque all year with more live music than Vintage Torque Fest. It may even be twice as big as the next biggest music festival, now with 20 live bands playing on multiple stages throughout the weekend. Just the great kind of rockabilly, punk, surf, and outlaw country that you would dream of finding at a show like this, just way more of it. With bands like Big Sandy & His Fly-Rite Boys, Superchief, Hot Rod Walt and the Psycho Devils, Cherokee Astro, 3 On The Tree, and the Surf Zombies, you know it's going to rock!

Before the show gets rolling on the weekend, there will be a cruise on Friday at 3 p.m. from the fairgrounds to Potosi Brewery and Museum.

Buy a Torquefest poster this year and you are automatically entered to win a 1925 Street Rod Roadster!

Weekend passes are $25 in advance or $30 at the gate. No advance passes sold after April 23. Friday day of show entry is $15 and includes admission to Racing & Flame Throwing Car Show. The Saturday day of show entry is $20 and includes admission to all track activity. Children 13 to 18 are $10, and children 12 and under free as are active military with valid ID. Coupons for a $5 discount entry for Saturday are available at different locations in Dubuque. All gate proceeds from this event go to HelpingHannahsHeart.org.

Stay tuned for more details in the April 18 issue of 365ink or visit VintageTorqueFest.com now to find all that Vintage Torque Fest has to offer. ■

JULIEN DUBUQUE INTERNATIONAL FILM FESTIVAL

APRIL 24-28
DOWNTOWN DUBUQUE

The Julien Dubuque International Film Festival, set for April 24-28, has extended the festivities to cover five days. More than 20 features, 20 documentaries and 70 shorts were named Official Selections this year and will be screened at 10 venues in downtown Dubuque. There were more than 700 submissions from over 50 countries, including Germany, the United Kingdom, Japan, Cuba, and New Zealand.

The eighth annual festival begins Wednesday with a full day of film screenings and a welcome mingle event from 6 to 8 p.m. at Five Flags Center. Thursday is again Runde Auto Group Free Day, so all film screenings are free that day.

On Thursday the festival will welcome the Canadian Consulate for its Celebrate Canada night from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at Five Flags Theater. There will be a Canada-sponsored film and a Q&A with the filmmakers. The after party will be at 9:30 p.m. at Hotel Julien Dubuque's Riverboat Lounge and will feature live music by The Lonely Goats.

Friday will include two special screenings from Shoreline Entertainment including Innocent Kiss, which stars Burt Reynolds, and Elijah & the Rock Creatures, a science fiction film from Canada.

Friday evening's activities have been dubbed Flick, Block & Bowl, and will begin with a red carpet screening of When Jeff Tried to Save the World, which stars Jon Heder. Heder played Napoleon in the 2004 indie comedy Napoleon Dynamite.

There will be a Q&A session with the director and producer, as well as to-be-announced cast and crew members, following the film. Tickets to the screening, held at the Five Flags Theater, are $10 in advance and $15 at the door. Doors open at 4:30 p.m.

After the screening, filmgoers can walk down to the JDIFF Block Party. This free street party, held from 6 to 10 p.m., will feature beer gardens and two bands on Main Street between 2nd and 3rd. Almost Classy will take the stage at 6 p.m. and Arzalez will begin at 8 p.m. The event is sponsored by American Trust.

The party will then move to Diamond Jo Casino's Cherry Lanes with cosmic bowling from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets are $20 in advance or $30 at the door. There are a limited number of tickets available for this package, which includes free bowling, shoes, food, and music by JC

Brooks Band, which is featured in When Jeff Tried to Save the World. The event is sponsored by Diamond Jo Casino.

Saturday will again feature the Awards Night ceremony at Five Flags Theater, recognizing the best films of the festival. The show will be from 8 to 9:30 p.m. and include musical performances by Arzales, Caroline Curtis, and more. The Awards After Party, set for 9:30 p.m. to midnight at the Five Flags, will feature complimentary food by East Mill Bakery and music by Ceili Rain.

The fest's final day, Sunday, is Kid's Day. From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., The Belltower, The Scene Studio, and Creative Adventure Lab will entertain kids with free workshops at Creative Adventure Lab. That night, the festival will come to a close with a screening of the film F.I.S.T., which starred Sylvester Stallone and was filmed in Dubuque.

"This is the 40th anniversary of that film, so what better way to celebrate that than to screen it right where it was filmed," said Susan Gorrell, executive director of the festival.

JDIF was voted one of the top 50 film festivals worth the entry fee by MovieMaker Magazine. For a look at all of the festival's events, visit JulienFilmFest.com. ■

Mike Zabrin

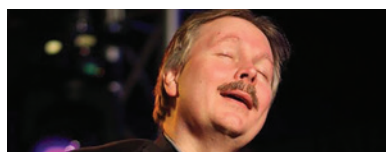

8 PM @ FLATTED FIFTH BLUES & BBQ
(300 POTTER DR, BELLEVUE, IA)
"I've always thought that in order for music to heard, it has to be felt. That's what the bass is for." —Mike Zabrin. The Mike Zabrin band from Chicago brings their blues-funk show (Ok, maybe mostly funk... but they're fantastic!)

Wonky Tonk, Bees, Pearle Harle-Heim

10 PM @ THE LIFT (180 MAIN ST)
Jasmine Poole's Wonky Tonk crates indie twang that's earnest, rough around the edge, and catchy. The arraignments bend the rules of alt country just enough that the sound is refreshing, not tired. A vocal-centric ensemble, BEEs focuses on the art of crafting songs that can stand alone even if stripped down to the bare essentials of just a voice and accompaniment. You are likely to hear a solid multi-genre backdrop including blues, country, pop, and soul. Local songwriter Pearle Harle-Heim opens the show.

GYRO SUPREME

ATHENIAN BURGER

THE CORNER GRILL

BY DANNY FAIRCHILD

"Greece is the word."

—The Brothers Gibb

When people think of Dubuque, they don't think of Greek cuisine. Why not? It's right there in front of our noses which are catching a good whiff of the spinning gyro meat. I've lived in Dubuque over 15 years and nowhere I've lived has had as vibrant of Greek heritage (it should be noted I've always lived somewhere in Iowa), and even I think of so many other things before my mind lands on Greek cuisine as a defining characteristic of Dubuque.

Let's stop this foolishness now, shall we? Dubuque means Greek cuisine. It just does. Shut up and accept it. It shouldn't be hard to accept. In fact, we should all be accepting gyros and baklava into our face-mouths right now. Dubuque means Greek cuisine. And with The Corner Grill at our service, I'll go so far as to say that Dubuque means GOOD Greek cuisine.

Braving the storm of unrelenting street construction stands The Corner Grill at the corner of Elm and 17th Streets, a monument to all things Dubuque, including the Greek aspects of it. Everything about it screams of the Dubuqueiest aspects of Dubuque, from the decor to the bartender serving double duty as a server and telling the daddiest of dad jokes:

Q. Why did the cheese curd cross the road?

A. To get out of the whey.

The question will be asked, "How authentic can it be?" A fair question. A douchey question, but I'll allow it. To find the answer, we must go to a much larger city with a much larger Greek community: Chicago. Zoom in a little more and you'll find Greektown. Zoom in even more and you'll find Halsted Street. That's where Yanni and his team get their gyro meat. It's THAT authentic.

Now shut up and eat. But make sure you visit a cash machine before you come on down as The Corner Grill doesn't accept cards. There is an ATM in-house if you forget, but...y'know...fees.

Let's get down to the food, yo.

Here there be Coke products. And lemonade. And iced tea. I usually don't make special note of iced tea. As long as it's iced and it's tea, then who cares, right? But friends: I must comment on the iced tea. Yanni and Co. brew it—get this—on the grill. I know, so what? A heat source is a heat source, right? Maybe. But the results speak for themselves. They also know not to friggin' boil your tea. They get it to a good steeping temperature. And this isn't some ultra exotic jasmine pearl orange pekoolong here. This is just the tea you've come to love and expect. Doesn't matter. They still take care to brew it right. It's a small thing, but it should be appreciated. Appreciate it, won't you?

We started things off with some spanakopita, which is a blend of spinach and feta wrapped in filo dough. I'm here to tell you, friend: There is absolutely no better way to eat spinach. I stake my honor on it.

First entree: The gyro. We went ahead and test drove the gyro supreme because there was four of us and neither of us wanted to sleep on the gyro. The gyro supreme falls under the "Mega-Sized Sandwiches" heading of the menu, and it lives up to the name. Gyros are kiiliind of open-faced sandwiches anyway, but with the gyro supreme, there's no "kiiliind of" about it. You ain't folding that thing. It's open season on open-face, y'all. You may even doubt there's a pita under all that meat and veggies and feta. Keep digging. It's there. Ever want to eat just a pile of gyro meat? You do now, don't you? Go get you some. What I'm saying is The Corner Grill does not skimp. Perish the thought.

SOUVLAKI SPECIAL

BAKLAVA ALA GREEK AND SOPAPITAS

Next up was the souvlaki special. Souvlaki is a Greek street food consisting of marinated meat grilled on skewers. Shish kebab, right? Different culture, but culinarily similar. Except shish kebab almost always has veggies on the skewers. Souvlaki almost always doesn't. Again, very Dubuque. The souvlaki special features chicken. I don't know about you, but almost every skewered and grilled chicken thingy I've ever had has been dry as an episode of Seinfeld, marinated or no. I have found the holy grail of moist (sorry for using that word) grilled, skewered chicken. It's at The Corner Grill. Marinated and grilled to perfection.

Then the burgers. The Corner Grill may not be your top choice for burgers, but if you're out with your pals and you're feeling like gyros and your friends are screaming for burgers, there's no reason you can't all be happy. The bun was a little large for the patty, but that was the only complaint with the Athenian burger we sampled. It's their fresh chuck patty with Greek seasoning and it's delicious. Do yourself a favor and upgrade to onion rings.

For your Lenten delights (again: Dubuque) there's the breaded cod sandwich. And as this is The Corner Grill, that means it's getting served on a pita, yo. It's an excellent twist on the usual fish sandwich you get during Lent. And the cod is breaded and fried a beautiful golden brown and is super flaky. Nom.

The baklava is homemade and is dangerous. If you eat it, you will want to eat it again. Flaky filo dough layered with spices and walnuts and sweetened to high heaven with honey? You're already there, aren't you?

The restrooms are very clean, though the automated towel dispenser didn't work on the day in question. But paper towels were readily available and truth be told, I hate those dispensers, anyway. Both restrooms (I peeked in the ladies' whilst it was unoccupied) have full-length mirrors so you can make sure you look cool before going back to eating. There was even some Kenneth Cole body spray available.

All-in-all, I can't for the life of me figure out how Dubuque isn't known, at least within the Tri-States, as a gyro destination. How can such deliciousness be overlooked? It's Greek to me! HAHAAHAHAHAHA! I'M SO FUNNY, YOU GUYZ! ■

ACHILLES HAD A TENDON C TO EXAGGERATE

BY BOB GELMS

The Song of Achilles by Madeline Miller is utterly original, stunning, dazzling, breath-taking, brilliant, remarkable, intense, gentle, brutal, shocking, bucolic, savage, bloody, pastoral, and violent. That about empties the thesaurus in my head. I can't think of another book that rivals it except her second novel, which I am reading presently, and the Iliad by Homer.

The Song of Achilles is a retelling—no, a reimagining—of the Iliad, the first epic poem by Homer which tells the tale of the Trojan War. Ms. Miller chronicles the story of the Iliad as she follows the career of the greatest warrior in ancient Greece, maybe of all time, Achilles.

Achilles' mother was a goddess who tried to get Zeus to make him a god. Zeus said no. So, the least she could do was to make him immortal. She carried her baby to the river Styx (yes, that's where the band got their name) and dipped him in the water. Every part of his body was washed immortal by the water except where Mom held him, by one of his heels. This is something that is of a major consequence to poor Achilles later in this life as he fights the war with Troy.

I think this would be a good time for a brief review of the Trojan War. The Trojan, King Priam decided that it was time for one of his sons, Paris, to get some experience running the kingdom he would inherit with one of his brothers, Hector. Paris is sent on a diplomatic mission to the Greek kingdom of King Agamemnon. Among the royalty he meets is Agamemnon's younger brother, Menelaus, also a minor Greek king. It turns out Paris was a lot more interested in King Menelaus' wife, Helen, you know, she had the face that launched a thousand ships.

Paris and Helen fell in love and snuck out of town. They made it back to Troy. Menelaus went berserk. Agamemnon was apoplectic. The Greeks marshalled a huge army to sail to Troy to get Helen back. It took 10 years and a huge number of dead soldiers and civilians. In the end Helen went back to Greece and Menelaus. The Trojan war was a result of Paris not being able to keep his toga buttoned.

Ms. Miller recounts Achilles' back story in The Song of Achilles. As a boy he was taught to be a warrior along with another boy, Patroclus. They were attracted to one another in a way that seemed to be a small, accepted part of growing up in Greece and they were inseparable. Training together, eating together, and sleeping in the same bed. As teenagers they were sent out to the wilderness to complete their training and education.

Their teacher lived in a cave and gathered food from the mountain. Chiron was a great teacher with one startling distinction. Chiron was a centaur. Under his guidance Achilles and Patroclus became educated, fierce warriors, and dedicated to each other for life. This is the love story in Ms. Miller's book. It is the example of a successful relationship driven by love.

Achilles and Agamemnon intensely disliked each other. The soldiers were dividing up the spoils from a few raids in the countryside which included a pretty woman. Achilles claimed her and as he was leading her back to his tent, Agamemnon stopped them and claimed the girl for himself and took her away from Achilles. This was a supreme insult and a massive example of complete and total disrespect. Achilles, then, refused to fight until King Agamemnon apologized and return the girl. That didn't happen.

The Greeks were losing the war. They were being slaughtered. Patroclus begged and pleaded with Achilles to fight. He refused. Achilles and Patroclus hatched a plan. Patroclus put on Achilles armor and helmet. All thought it was Achilles. Patroclus wasn't a very good fighter and he is killed by the Trojan Hector.

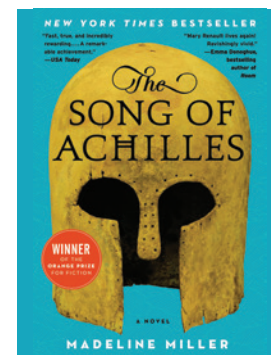

Achilles was raging. He joins the fight the next day. Finally, Achilles kills Hector and desecrates the body by dragging it behind his chariot many times around Troy in the morning, at noon, and in the evening. The next battle sees Achilles wander too close to the walls of Troy where he catches a random arrow in his heel, draining his immortality but not killing him.

Paris is up on the wall and lets loose an arrow at Achilles. From the back, through the armor, through the heart, Achilles is done. Achilles is buried. His mother stands at the tomb along with the spirit of Patroclus which she can see and hear because she is a goddess.

Finally...

"In the darkness, two shadows, reaching through the hopeless, heavy dusk. Their hands meet, and light spills in a flood like a hundred golden urns pouring out of the sun."

All is well and The Song of Achilles by Madeline Miller takes its place next to the books I will never forget. ■

Gwen Danzig's
Good Advice

DEAR GWEN,
I cry at work constantly. Sometimes I just let it happen, right there at my desk, but I'm at the front of the office and it doesn't look great for the company. I think it makes me look weak in front of other employees, too. I manage a number of people and I don't like that they've seen me cry. How am I supposed to command a room or be a leader when I'm crying all the time?
—Sincerely, Weeping Willow

DEAREST DARLINGEST WEeping WILLOW,
I'm a crier, but not a Jon Cryer, it's whatever. (Hold on I gotta make an appointment with my therapist quick because I hate myself so much after that Jon Cryer joke. Whatever, Pretty in Pink was good.) If nobody is cool enough to let you go cry in their office, you should work someplace else, BUT if I've learned anything from Matilda, both the film and musical—Oh my god, side-note, those little British babies in Matilda the Musical's original cast are little STARS. I'm telling you, they're STARS. They make me want to kidnap them and have them do performances in my basement. Tiny versions of Li'l Abner and Thoroughly Modern Millie and The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee...do children eat wet food like cats? I'm tearing up just thinking about it. Ah, yes. Tears. Matilda. Okay. Miss Trunchbull taught me that nothing is more terrifying than physical fitness, a tight ponytail, and a little room with stabby nails stabbing you. That lady knew how to be a manager. Be Miss Trunchbull, never Eve.
—xoxo Gwen

DEAR GWEN,
A friend of mine, a friend I've known for seven years, is entangling me in her affair. She's using me as an excuse when she's out with her paramour, often saying she's spending the night at my apartment.

I only know because her husband mentioned off-handedly that she was sleeping at my place a lot. In that moment, I covered for her, but now I'm feeling guilty about it. Her husband is a friend of mine, too. Do I say anything? Which one do I approach about it? On one hand, I feel like it's none of my business, but on the other hand, she's making it my business. Help!
—Truly yours, Cheater Cheater Pumpkin Eater

DEAR CHEATER CHEATER PUMPKIN EATER,
Clearly, you need to have a come to Jesus with these people. Sit them down and say it's time for her to confess...her love... for Dave Matthews Band. Honestly, liking Dave Matthews Band is objectively worse than cheating on your husband, so she might come out with the truth right then and there. Otherwise, weave your web, darlin'. Tell them both how you've kept the secret for far too long that she's been running off to be a Dave Matthews groupie, using you and your apartment to lie about it. If you can squeeze out a tear or two, WERK. (This is the point in writing my advice that I google "Dave Matthew's Band," to be sure there's an apostrophe, and there's not, so I go back and delete all the apostrophes.) I'll leave you with this impossibly bad Dave Matthews lyric: "I was there when I saw the bear eat his own head." No, you weren't Dave, I'm sure. For a fact. That you weren't.

ARIES
(MAR 21–APR 19)
Tackle things that require high energy, like running into a brick wall until you collapse. This is your time to make short work of that to do list that is mostly just restaurants you want to go where you're pretty sure you can eat off the plates people left on their table without getting in trouble.

TAURUS
(APR 20–MAY 20)
Even though you feel most comfortable when things are organized and meticulous, put a little flex into your routine by running down the road screaming at the top of your lungs instead of driving to work. Allow room for surprise and adventure and the possibility of a helicopter landing on you.

GEMINI
(MAY 21–JUNE 20)
Finding balance in your world will be no sweat once you get a Groupon for that flamethrower you've been watching on eBay. Waking up is likely to be the most difficult part of the day, but—wait, never mind, it actually gets even worse.

CANCER
(JUNE 21–JULY 22)
Things may come to you more easily than usual now that you've stolen the identity of a millionaire. This is a sign that you're on the right path and absolutely nothing can go wrong as long as you leave the country immediately and only pay for things with cash for the rest of your undoubtedly short life.

LEO
(JULY 23–AUG 22)
Life shouldn't have to be full of stress and heartache, so take some time to purge yourself of both spirit and heart and crawl into an iron lung for a bit. If something isn't flowing smoothly, spray Lysol on it until it melts or you pass out.

VIRGO
(AUG 23–SEP 22)
Someone is trying to contact you and you may keep missing each other by minutes or perhaps by proxy of being in different dimensions. Two people working toward the same goal make the power of communication breakdowns even more intense. Try smoke signals or writing in blood to really be able to think about what you're trying to say.

LIBRA
(SEP 23–OCT 22)
With minimal effort, you should still be able to alienate your entire family and all of your friends except the ones who are hoping to borrow money from you shortly before you end up going to prison for life for a crime they're going to frame you for.

SCORPIO
(OCT 23–NOV 21)
Your lucky number is 5/4.

SAGITTARIUS
(NOV 22–DEC 21)
A rolling stone gathers no moss, but rolling moss gathers no stone am I right and oh my god I think these edibles are kicking in bro.

CAPRICORN
(DEC 22–JAN 19)
Try not to be overwhelmed by the frenzied activity around you and stay centered until the fire extinguisher you're randomly shooting everywhere in the middle of the Burger King runs out. Calm yourself down and throw up in the "broken" ice cream machine if you have to.

AQUARIUS
(JAN 20–FEB 18)
You like The Dirt so much because you are one.

PISCES
(FEB 19–MAR 20)
Keep in mind that life isn't necessarily good or bad or even neutral, but that the world itself is much too large to contain anything except unwieldy multitudes that we will simply float between for awhile until we turn into the earth with the unwieldy multitudes and on and on until the sun burns out and only the most basic forms of carbon-based life will continue to exist, with everything humanity has ever done or ever known or ever documented lost to something beyond time. Get some ice cream.

WALK A MILE IN THEIR SHOES

BY MATT BOOTH

As the old saying goes, "Don't criticize someone until you have walked a mile in their shoes." A mile, who has time for that? How about just walking a few steps in their shoes?

We have an empathy crisis in America. Empathy involves the ability to emotionally understand what another person is experiencing. Essentially, it is putting you in someone else's position and feeling what they must be feeling. The outcome of lack of empathy is extremely obvious every day. Human beings are certainly capable of selfish, even cruel, behavior. Turning on the TV or scanning your newsfeed reveals many unkind, selfish, and heinous actions.

It is very easy to laugh at someone who doesn't look, act, or talk like you. Some people feel empathy for the guy standing outside Walmart and some people look in disgust ranting about freeloaders working the system and that he probably makes more money than most. But once you experience for yourself what it feels like to be teased based on how you look, what you believe, or where you live, your point of view might change drastically.

We've become so plugged in that we've unplugged from others. It's almost impossible to be empathetic and feel what someone else is going through when you can't read their emotions on a screen. You can't be empathetic on a device. You can't walk a mile in someone else's shoes with emojis.

You are hardwired for empathy. It's a trait that sets you apart from animals. Empathy is a learned skill that can develop and grow through consistent practice. The four attributes of building empathy as defined by Theresa Wiseman are:

- Being able to see the world as others see it
- No judging
- Understanding another's emotions and feelings
- Communicating that to the person

You are generally in touch with your own feelings and emotions. Other's feelings and emotions, not so much. Empathy allows you to walk a mile (or a couple steps) in another's shoes. Empathy leads to caring and compassionate behavior that strengthens relationships. When people experience empathy, they are more likely to engage in behaviors that benefit others. Try empathy. It's the right thing to do! ■

CHECK YOUR ATTITUDE

A great way to Check Your Attitude is to slow down a step. Having a full schedule is not the point of life. Being busy is a common safe place. You don't win at life by being busy. Continuous moving from one event to the next without a catching your breath doesn't get you any points. Prioritization and productivity matters. If you CYA each day, you won't have to worry about Covering Your A#%.
